

scale

SH 1-004-19

Martin JM-1 Marauder

U.S. Navy
Target Tug

Even though known under such Nicknames as "Martin Murderer" or "Widowmaker", the Marauder was probably the most successful bomber of World War 2. It was the aircraft which flew the most missions with the least losses. It was used by all allied forces in several roles, of course mostly level bombing.

The U.S. Navy operated a number of Marauders under the Navy designation JM-1/2. These aircraft were unarmed and refitted with a system to pull drones and chutes for target practice.

STAHLHART Papercraft

<http://papercraft.stahlhart.net>