

Heinkel He-111C

Basic Silver version

While the Heinkel He-111 was famous as the principal Medium Bomber of the German Luftwaffe in World War 2, it was originally conceived as bomber and airliner.

The C-type was the first airliner version flown by Lufthansa all across Europe before the war.

The C-type has the early rounded wings and engines with exhausts in the top and propeller in the bottom.