

Heinkel He-111H

Bulgarian Air Force with civil registry, 1945

The Heinkel He-111 was the principal Medium Bomber of the German Luftwaffe in World War 2. While gradually replaced by newer types, it served until the end of the war in various roles. The Spanish license-built version, the CASA 2.111 even served until long after the war.

The P-type was the first bomber version with the famous asymmetric glazed nose. Its engines have the side intake on the port side and the exhausts are rectangular.
