Hawker / Armstrong-Whitworth Sea Hawk

Sea Hawk FGA.50, Koninklijke Marine,
860th Squadron, HrMS Karel Doorman, 1961

The Sea Hawk was one of the first jet fighters to enter service with the Royal Navy. Initially designed as a fighter, it served mostly as a ground attack aircraft, famously in the Suez Crisis as well as in a number of wars between India and Pakistan. It was a reliable and rugged workhorse.
