Hawker / Armstrong-Whitworth Sea Hawk

Sea Hawk FGA.4, Royal Navy, Fleet Air Arm,
810th Squadron, HMS Albion, 1956

The Sea Hawk was one of the first jet fighters to enter service with the Royal Navy. Initially designed as a fighter, it served mostly as a ground attack aircraft, famously in the Suez Crisis as well as in a number of wars between India and Pakistan. It was a reliable and rugged workhorse.
